Question #4: The first half of 2014 is almost over. What specific stocks or sectors do you think will have an especially good or especially bad second half of 2014?

- Yes, at least I hope so.
- Yes.
Yes people are demanding that they HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW what they and their kids are eating.
Not at all they have plenty of other poisons they can continue to sell. Our spineless EPA and FDA and their corporate masters will insure($$$$) that that is the case.
- Negatively
- Yes effects will be mixed
- They should label GMO products and it will affect the industry hopefully in a positive way.
- Genetically modified food isn't real food. Make no mistake. This is serious stuff. GMO's will cause more weight control issues and alter our genetics. Yes there will be more food to sell but how much bad food do we want to eat? Monsanto and Cargill don't want labelling but people have a right to know and to avoid GMO foods. It will affect not only food but also chemicals derived from corn and soybeans and others such as sugar beets.

- Yes, Not much.
- Yes. Short term cut in profits. Long term no effect.
- We will eat anything. We have been eating it for years and it is difficult judge the impact of GMO food over the long term. And, of course, Monsanto has a powerful lobby with a big war chest. I say it will be business as usual.
- Yes, honesty is good for consumers.
- Yes they should label the food if genetic or not. People will still buy price over quality unless genetic modified food is shown to cause something bad.
- FORCE TRUTH ON LABELS
- I think they will and I think they should. Initially this will have some affect but as the scientific evidence emerges it will either go away or get stronger depending on what the evidence shows.
- Yes. Not very much.
- No
- I think they will be forced to label GMO.
I don't believe that there will be huge implications for such labeling.
- Just more stuff to have added to a label
- More information to add to a lable.
- I certainly Do hope so....

Question #5: Comments/Questions/Suggestions?

- There are multi issues that keep coming up much like making popcorn. One pops then another one. The US does know not how to solve, just get re-elected.
- As long as the central banks keep interst rates low stock market will go up
