TimingResearch Crowd Forecast Prediction: 63% Chance Lower

This prediction is an attempt by the editor of this newsletter to use the full 2+ year history of data collected from this project to forecast a probability estimate for whether this week's sentiment is going to be correct and ultimately what the markets will do this coming week.

Details: Last week's majority sentiment was Higher, but the Crowd Forecast Indicator prediction was 55% Chance Lower; the S&P500 ended down 0.01% for the week. This week's majority sentiment is Lower (less than 10% difference) and with a higher average confidence on the bullish side (less than 10% difference). Similar conditions have been observed 8 times in the previous 148 weeks, with the majority sentiment being correct 63% of the time with an average S&P500 move for the week of down 0.16% during those weeks. Based on that history, the TimingResearch Crowd Forecast Indicator is forecasting 63% Chance Lower for the week.

NOTE: The following open-ended answers are solely the opinions of the anonymous responders to this survey. Responses are mostly unedited, but some have been reformatted slightly for to make them easier to read and are listed in order of submission. Some useless/irrelevant responses (e.g. "none") have been omitted. All responses for each week, unedited, are available in the raw data spreadsheets at TimingResearch.com/rawdata.

Question #3. For your answer to Question #1, please share what specific reason(s) you think the S&P500 will be heading the direction you chose.

"Higher" Respondent Answers:

- Earnings
- The market is volatile. Not stable. Not certain
- markets consolidating
- Flat top consolidating pattern building energy for the next move higher which may be the last move up before a correction for the rest of August. Dangerous market with few alternatives to equities.
- cycles
- With Europe / Asia higher and Fed still indecisive, I think the S&P 500 will end up higher, even though a see saw during week
- Trending up already
- Cycles come to an end early in the wk---Mon or Tues and the mkt should break out higher
- Ttending
- hold above 2140
- Mkt is essentially and recently at its highs. so consolidation period seems to be a reasonable consequence.
- 1 week of a new month
- I'm getting good at this
- This is the direction of the overall trend and I think it will continue through this week
- Fraudulent government statistics, lousy earnings reports, central banks talking about helicopter money, Venezuelans reduced to eating pigeons and cats, global terrorism, political and social upheaval, major bank failures, 600 trillion in global derivatives exposure and the inevitable WW3 are all great reasons to just BTFD.
- · the bulls are just catching their breath
- Data
- The swoon opened the door for dollar-denominated crude oil to rally, GOLD DEC can move up
- my son's advice is just as good as anyone's
- S&P is technically overbought
- · usually nothing bad happens during the olympics
- market should hold at current levels for another 3 days before gving soem back by weeks end
- Everyone is predicting "the fall" and that has historically been a great predictor of a continued rally to screw the shorts. Reminds me a of '98-'99 (without the tech bubble).

"Lower" Respondent Answers:

- The Fang stocks have reported and are pulling back; therefore less support for upward mobility.
- It just hit new high.
- Weakness during the 1st wk in Aug.
- SP 500 way overbought and ready for fall after poor GDP report.
- Conventions are over and the market has been trying to decouple from the oil tie going fwd. NFP report looms, but any "upside" surprises would be a time to take profits, as many people are on holiday and companies are not replacing them with full time employees.
- overbought
- Consolidation prior to up trend.
- More chop, slightly lower
- Price action.
- Short covering rally today

- Increasing VIX.
- technically, it looks weak
- cool down effect after 2 big events!!
- Technically the charts are overbought and need to refresh by going lower.
- FED fears for September rate hike and GDP worries combined with rally in bond market and NFP report.
- · Middle of modest earnings season and mediocre economic indicators lately
- Summer doldrums
- wow what resiliency as long as the FED doesn't tighten this market shrugs off everything so economic weakness now equals a rising market as until the economy overheats no market
 top is possible
- Market needs a rest. Less volume.
- Trouble ahead because of BoJ for the USD/JPY and the market indices. I still hope that does not make a market-crash
- Indexes running out of steam and stalling candles---Earnings bad for oil, cars, AN and various other stocks---many more look ready to roll over.
- small pullback and then up in future weeks. Refreshing pullback.

Question #4. What methods or techniques do you use to overcome the emotional aspects of trading?

- Reading to as much information, and analysts opinion as much as possible.
- Follow a trade plan and risk management rules. Forced discipline is necessary.
- Strict price/profit targets and/or charts. But it's tough, still. I'd love to find an automated system or service that I can rely on...then again, I'm sure most others would too!
- I remember, "When in doubt get out;" if I'm afraid to buy, it's probaby OK.
- stops
- Regularly stepping away from the screen
- a combination of indicators
- Stay cool
- Analyses of different timeframes, stoploss and specific maximum trade sizes.
- New high could be resistance. DMI is turning down.
- Haven't really been able to do that well yet.
- Rules based investing
- charts/price action
- Eliminate the need of applying emotions to a job.
- I manage risk. No emotions whatsoever... except when I lose money. Then I get pissed.
- Charts to determine directional movement.
- HistoriCal data
- I try to avoid emotional-based decisions but sometime its hard to do so....

Question #5. Additional Comments/Questions/Suggestions?

Thank you for all the feedback, feel free to contact us at any time with any other questions or comments.

- Which is easier to predict, tomorrows trend or longer term (> monthly). What factors should be considered betw short term and longer term predictions?
- Watch out for an "October surprise" from Obama administration BLS liars to influence election, same as 2012.
- Is there a simple but profitable way to trade that makes constantly winners? Ideally for daytraders would be to trade short (1-2 hours) each day and make profit nearly every day. Isn't that the sense of trading and working? Without constant wins its just wasting of worthful life-time and more bad - destroying your reserves/pensions and even your nest-egg
- Is the IWM stronger or is it my analysis?
- Fear and Greed.
- None right now.
- No place to hide when the debt and margin bubble pops so keep some cash in the safe.
- trading can be fattening.
- The next president will face a recession and will get the blame even though current government regulations and actions will be the cause.
- Buy gold as the FED does not want to interfere in the election and will not raise rates this quarter.
- CANT make direct observations about the market being UP or DOWn for the WEEK it doesnt work that way.
