TimingResearch Crowd Forecast Prediction: 57% Chance Higher

This prediction is an attempt by the editor of this newsletter to use the full 4+ year history of data collected from this project to forecast a probability estimate for whether this week's sentiment is going to be correct and ultimately what the markets will do this coming week.

Details: Last week's majority sentiment was 72.0% Higher, and the Crowd Forecast Indicator prediction was 54% Chance Lower; the S&P500 closed 1.38% Lower for the week. This week's majority sentiment from the survey is 63.2% Higher with a greater average confidence from those who responded Higher. Similar conditions have been observed 30 times in the previous 233 weeks, with the majority sentiment being correct 57% of the time, with an average S&P500 move for the week of 0.26% Higher during those weeks. Based on that history, the TimingResearch Crowd Forecast Indicator is forecasting 57% Chance Lower for this coming week.

NOTE: The following open-ended answers are solely the opinions of the anonymous respondents to this survey. Responses are mostly unedited, but some have been reformatted slightly for to make them easier to read. Some irrelevant responses (e.g. "none"), or anything obviously fake, or copy and pasted responses have been omitted. All-caps responses have been changed to all lowercase. All responses for each week, unedited, are available in the raw data spreadsheets at TimingResearch.com/data.

Question #3. For your answer to Question #1, please share what specific reason(s) you think the S&P500 will be heading the direction you chose.

“Higher” Respondent Answers:

- Good Republican policy
- No bear sentiment in the majority of places/people.
- Tariffs, taxes
- S&P500 closed last week right at support on the weekly chart & at the 10d ema, after bouncing from the 20d ema, on the daily chart.
- Elliott wave
- Earnings and Russia
- 🇺🇸 awaiting a pullback
- Good bottoming around 1307.
- Hunch

“Lower” Respondent Answers:

- The market is range bound here and futures are up before opens and the market does not follow through with what the futures are telling us.
- 450
- the weakness of last week is likely to continue. Rather it seems that the price will not change much
- Complete the bearish engulfing pattern on SPY
- uncertainty
- European response to Trump tariffs.
- The S&P was down 4 of 5 days this past week. The positive day, Friday, was not strong, and showed no signs of an upcoming short-term rally. Expecting at least a 2% drop to lower Bollinger band.
- I think it will break the wedge on the daily.
- I've not really changed my overall view of what is happening this year in the stock market. However I believe the President's trade policies are at odds with his obvious reliance on stock market indexes to mirror his belief that he's good for the economy. The current raising of interest rates is not helping him look any better through his expected continued increase of stock market indexes. I think until he realizes the evidence has long been "in" on the adverse effects of retaliatory trade tariffs, the markets could continue to slide in general, but not to the degree of a "crash", at least not yet.

- geopolitics
- Sideways/downtrend to consolidate

● No, never.

Value	Percent	Responses
Yes, currently.	15.6%	5
Yes, previously but not any more.	9.4%	3
No, never.	75.0%	24

Question #4b. How well has that worked for you?

Yes, currently:

- saves some time in routine trades.
- Good, especially for stops & target exists
- Ehh 50,50
- as expected, with exception

Yes, previously but not any more:

- Not well when broadband fails
